Fatal accident in College Park leaves one dead, another in critical condition

By Heather Middleton
hmiddleton@news-daily.com

COLLEGE PARK — Clayton County police are investigating an accident that left one driver dead and another in critical condition.

The accident happened at 9:08 a.m. Sept. 16 on Riverdale Road and Flat Shoals Road in College Park.

According to police, the deceased driver was heading north on Riverdale Road when they encountered traffic. As a result, the driver locked their brakes causing the car to spin into the southbound lanes on Riverdale Road.

The vehicle was hit by another driver traveling south, leaving them in critical condition.

Police said the investigation is ongoing.

Man accused of raping an elderly McDonough resident pleads guilty, gets 25 years in prison

By Heather Middleton
hmiddleton@henryherald.com

McDONOUGH — A man arrested in March on charges of raping an elderly McDonough resident has been sentenced to 25 years in prison and life on probation following his guilty plea on Sept. 16.

Travale Farris, 29, was arrested for the February rape after his DNA matched the suspect in the crime. Farris pleaded guilty to one court each of rape, aggravated sexual battery, kidnapping, false imprisonment, exploitation and intimidation of an elder person and three counts of criminal attempts to commit a felony.

On Feb. 5, Farris was captured on video going to door to door at the Heritage at McDonough Senior Living Complex checking for unlocked doors. He tried three before finding one unlocked. He entered the apartment, sexually assaulted a 76-year-old woman, then “casually left the home,” police said.

Farris lived one mile from the complex. “This was a horrific crime and we are grateful to bring justice for this survivor,” Henry County District Attorney Darius Pattillo said. “We wanted to ensure that Mr. Farris cannot harm any more of our county’s elderly population. Under this sentence, there is no possibility of parole and he must serve every day of that 25 years and continue to be supervised by officers for the rest of his life.”

In addition to spending the next 25 years in prison and the rest of his life on probation, Farris must register as a sex offender, have no contact with any of the victims and stay away from the senior living complex.

This is the city hit hardest by extreme poverty in Georgia

By Samuel Stebbins
2417 Wall St.
via The Center Square

There are an estimated 39.5 million Americans living below the poverty line, which, in the lower 48 states, is a annual income threshold of $12,880 for an individual and $26,500 for a family of four (Alaska and Hawaii have a slightly higher threshold). Living in poverty can have serious consequences and impacts nearly every aspect of life — and those problems can be compounded for those who are facing poverty while also living in very poor neighborhoods.

Residents of poor neighborhoods often struggle with higher crime rates, limited employment opportunities, lower school quality, and poor health outcomes. For those living on poverty-level income, each of these factors reduces the likelihood of upward economic mobility.

Albany has the highest concentrated poverty rate of any metro area in Georgia and one of the highest of any metro area nationwide. There are nine neighborhoods in the city with poverty rates of 40% and up — and they are home to over one-third of the 34,600 people in the metro area living below the poverty line.

Many living in Albany’s high-poverty neighborhoods face barriers to economic opportunity due to low educational attainment. For example, less than three-quarters of adults in neighborhoods with poverty rates of 40% or higher have a high school diploma compared to about 87% of adults in the rest of the city. Additionally, the share of adults with four-year college education in Albany is more than double the share of adults with such a degree living in the city’s concentrated poverty neighborhoods.

All data used in this story are five-year estimates from the U.S. Census Bureau’s 2019 American Community Survey. We only considered census tracts, or neighborhoods, with at least 50 people and college or graduate school enrollment below 50%. Metro areas were also excluded if over 25% of the population in tracts of concentrated poverty were college or university students.

Albany has the highest concentrated poverty rate of any metro area in Ga. and one of the highest of any metro area nationwide.

Arkansas Possum Pie

Some comfort food from the South

By Family Features

The star of your next spread can be hidden away in the refrigerator for a surprise delight for your guests. It's topped with chocolate syrup and chopped pecans, and your loved ones just may vote it to be their favorite dish.

It's an Arkansas Possum Pie, made with three delicious layers and crunchy toppings for a show-stopping dessert.

In a saucepan, melt butter. Add flour and stir to combine. Add crushed pecans and brown sugar. Stir to combine and form to the bottom of a pie pan. Bake for 15-20 minutes at 350 F. In a separate bowl, add cream cheese and beat until smooth. Add powdered sugar and heavy cream. Stir to combine. Add to pie pan over cooled pecan crust. Refrigerate.

To make the pudding layer, whisk egg yolks in a bowl then whisk in whole milk.

In a separate bowl, add sugar, cocoa powder, cornstarch, flour and salt. Whisk to combine.

In a saucepan over medium heat, add egg mixture followed by the dry mixture and stir. Add butter and vanilla extract, stirring until butter is melted.

Pour pudding mixture into a separate pie pan and cover with plastic wrap. Refrigerate for 30 minutes. Once cooled, add on top of the other layers and spread evenly.

Refrigerate pie overnight.

To make whipped topping, in a mixer, add heavy whipping cream, powdered sugar and vanilla extract. Beat to combine. Add whipped topping to the top of the chilled pie.

Drizzle with chocolate syrup and sprinkle with chopped pecans.

Whether it's a holiday, birthday or reunion, this pie is a perfect conversation starter. It's sweet, crunchy and filled with creamy, delightful layers of goodness.

- Arkansas Possum Pie
Servings: 8
- Crust:
3/4 cup butter
1 1/2 cups flour
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 1/2 cups pecans, crushed
- Cream Cheese Layer:
12 ounces cream cheese, softened
1 cup powdered sugar
4 tablespoons heavy cream
- Pudding Layer:
3 egg yolks
2 cups whole milk
1 cup sugar
1/3 cup cocoa powder
3 tablespoons cornstarch
2 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons butter
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- Whipped Cream Topping:
1 cup heavy whipping cream
4 tablespoons powdered sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
chocolate syrup

1/2 cup chopped pecans
Heat oven to 350 F.

To make crust: In saucepan, melt butter; add flour, brown sugar and crushed pecans. Stir until combined. Press into 9 1/2-inch deep pie plate.

Bake 15-20 minutes until crust begins to brown. Cool completely.

To make cream cheese layer: In medium bowl, mix cream cheese until creamy. Add powdered sugar and heavy cream; mix until smooth. Spread over cooled pecan crust. Refrigerate.

To make pudding layer: In medium bowl, whisk egg yolks. Add milk; whisk until combined. Set aside.

In separate medium bowl,

whisk sugar, cocoa powder, cornstarch, flour and salt until combined.

In saucepan over medium heat, add egg yolk mixture and flour mixture. Whisk constantly until pudding begins to thicken and bubble. Add butter and vanilla extract, stirring until butter is melted. Pour chocolate pudding in shallow bowl. Cover with plastic wrap touching pudding to keep it from forming skin. Refrigerate 30 minutes.

Pour pudding over cream cheese layer. Cover pie with plastic wrap. Refrigerate overnight.

To make whipped cream topping: In stand mixer bowl, add heavy cream, powdered sugar and vanilla extract.

Whip until stiff peaks form. Spread whipped cream over pudding layer. Drizzle pie with chocolate syrup and sprinkle with chopped pecans.
